On April 5, 2018, the National Indian Justice Center will conduct a one-day training workshop on Tribal transportation planning.

The workshop will focus on Tribal transportation safety plans and long-range transportation planning with additional information provided about state and regional transportation programs and funding opportunities.

The training is designed to benefit Tribal planners, legislators, grant writers, and transportation personnel. Participants can expect to learn about:

- The FHWA Tribal Transportation Safety Program
- Key elements and step in developing a Tribal Long-Range Transportation Plan
- State and Metropolitan Planning Organization planning
- Transportation funding opportunities
- An Introduction to the Tribal Online Crash Data Collection Tool and other upcoming transportation projects

Participants are encouraged to bring their transportation planning documents for advice about next steps.

Tribal representatives are invited to participate in this workshop held in Valley Center, California.

Cost is $65 to attend.

Please use REGISTRATION form on reverse side of flyer.
